

WILLIAMS Glen

Glenn Eldred Williams, composer of music, died at his home in Albuquerque, New Mexico on Sunday, April 5, after a valiant fight against cancer. He was in his 65th year

He is best known in Western New York for his preservation of the home of the late Helen Mather Chapin, and its conversion into The Mather Homestead Museum, Library and Memorial Park, with special concern for the enjoyment of those who are blind or poorly sighted.

He and his wife, Barbara Chapin Williams, have spent several seasons in Fort Erie, where they found welcome and peace. Mr. Williams has based several recent compositions on his walks along the Niagara River, and the couple have treasured the beautiful rides, fine eating places, wonderful library, and merry race track. Mrs. Williams said the couple was thankful for these happy days, and for the many friends made while in the Niagara Frontier.
